Professionals Show Off Hunter Talent

Griffith and Stewart ride to multiple wins

Hunter competition kicked off on Monday with ten divisions running their opening classes. While the more experienced horses competed indoors, the Future Hunters showed in the outdoor ring.

The First Year Green Hunters had enough entries to split into two sections. The sections had repeat winners as Scott Stewart and Enjoy, owned by Rose Hill Farm, won their two over fences classes in Section A, sponsored by PJP Farm. Stewart took home two more blue ribbons in the High Performance Hunters with Garfield, owned by Alexandra Crown, and was also successful in the outdoor, topping three Future Hunter classes. He and Concept won in the 5 & Under division, while Quest won the Colts and Geldings class, sponsored by Boggs Hill. Paramour took first place in the 6 & Over over fences and under saddle classes, sponsored by New Hope LLC/David Belford and Christopher Payne.

Sadrian & Kellogg Families, Akinda and Patricia Griffith, who rode for Victoria Press, won both jumping classes. Akinda also showed in the Green Conformation Hunters, sponsored by Lisa A.H. Cudahy, where they won the model class. Beholden and Scott Stewart won the over fences class.

Class winners in the Second Year Green Working Hunters included Trendy, ridden by Elizabeth Boyd for Caroline Kellogg, and Balou, piloted by Amanda Steege for Lisa Arena. Balou and Steege were also victorious in the under saddle class. Boyd found addition success piloting Sarah Orberon's First Dance to the top of the first class of the Future Hunters 5 & Under division, sponsored by Greener Pastures Equine.

The Performance Hunter 3'6" over fences class, sponsored by Nicole Kane & South Shore Farm, was moved to the indoor arena, and it was Sambalino who jogged for the blue ribbon with rider Peter Pletcher for Becky Gochman.

In the outdoor ring, the Future Hunter Mares sponsored by Ravenswood Farm/Penelope Ayers started the day. Havens Schatt rode Sans Souci for CH Farm LLC and took the top spot in both classes.

The Future Hunter 3'3" division sponsored by Pegasus Show Stables/Christa and Michael Endicott and Hunt Tosh Inc. were the final classes of the day outside. Exclusive, ridden by Nick Haness and owned by Tracy Sully, won both classes.

A WCHR membership meeting will be held today in the Winner's Circle Lounge at the conclusion of today's classes.

The meeting is open to all interested in discussing the changes for the 2013 season. Anyone with questions or comments are encouraged to attend.

This year the Daily Update will once again feature a special USHJA section to cover the World Champion Hunter Rider classes. Tricia Booker will be covering the events for us. You can also find results of the WCHR classes on the Capital Challenge website (www.capitalchallenge.org) and on the USHJA website (www.ushja.org).

THE ASPCA VOICE

Stopping Horse Soring and Stewarding

The ASPCA works on a host of concerns for horses today, and sadly, some never seem to go away. Congress passed the federal Horse Protection Act (HPA) 40 years ago to protect horses from soring, but loose wording, insufficient penalties and lax enforcement have allowed the cruel practice of soring to continue. On today's Tennessee Walking Horse show circuit, the horrible practice of "soring" continues almost unabated. Unscrupulous trainers apply caustic chemicals to horses' legs to inflame the skin – the practice known as "soring" – and couple this abuse with "action devices" like chains and weights to exacerbate the pain. Desperate to escape the constant and intense burning pain, horses unnaturally fling their legs in the high-stepping "big lick" gait that wins prizes at shows.

Recent investigations and media coverage exposed another abysmal practice known as "stewarding." Stewarding is a practice used to mask soring by training horses to remain still during inspection. They only stand still to avoid further pain and abuse. These horses spend every moment in fear of being hurt – it is unacceptable for anyone to treat horses in this manner and it is time to free these gentle horses from the torment.

A new bill, H.R. 6388, would amend the HPA to further protect horses from soring by eliminating the industry's current self-policing practices, prohibiting the use of action devices, and increasing the penalties for soring. Horse owners and advocates can make a big difference for these horses – we need you to speak up to help end horse soring for good.
